DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

2. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. Claims 1-5 consist solely of computer program and database, which is nonstatutory functional descriptive material.

3. To expedite a complete examination of the instant application the claims rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 (nonstatutory) above are further rejected as set forth below in anticipation of applicant amending these claims to place them within the four statutory categories of invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Antur et al, US Patent No. 6212558B1, hereinafter '558.

6. As per claim 1, "A software tool for use in configuring firewalls, comprising: an interface which communicates with a database to obtain the identification of firewall devices associated with a network and generate a first display which lists said devices" is taught in '558 (Col 6 lines 47-55, Col 9 lines 5-10, and Fig 6C); and "means responsive to the selection of one of the devices in said list to generate a second display (Figure 6C and 7) which lists conduits within said device, wherein each conduit is identified by descriptive names stored in said database for local and external devices and/or networks that are logically connected by the conduit" is taught in '558 (Col 9 lines 10-20, lines 22-24, Col 6 lines 48-64, and Figures 7-24).

7. As per claim 6, "A method for configuring firewalls, comprising the following steps: communicating with a database to obtain the identification of firewall devices associated with a network; generating a first display which lists said devices" is taught in '558 (Col 6 lines 47-55, Col 9 lines 5-10, and Fig 6C); and "detecting the selection of one of the devices in said list" is taught in '558 (Col 9 lines 23-26, and Figure 6c-7); and "generating a second display which lists conduits within said device, wherein each conduit is identified by descriptive names stored in said database for local and external devices and/or networks that are logically connected by the conduit" is taught in '558 (Col 9 lines 10-20, lines 22-24, and Figures 7-24).

8. As per claims 2 and 7, “The tool of claims 1 and 6, further including the steps of generating a third display which lists internal networks owned by an entity associated with the selected device, in response to the selection of one of the devices listed in said first display, and which enables a user to selectively open and close conduits respectively corresponding to said internal networks” is taught in ‘558 (Col 9 line 27 to Col 10 line 22, and Figures 7-24).

9. As per claims 3 and 8, “the tool of claims 2 and 7, wherein said third display includes a graphical object adjacent each listing of an internal network that can be selected by a user to toggle between open and closed states for the listed network” is taught in ‘558 (Col 9 line 27 to Col 10 line 22, and Figures 7-24).

10. As per claims 4 and 9, “the tool of claims 2 and 7, wherein said third display further enables a user to add a new conduit to one of the internal networks” is taught in ‘558 (Col 35-39, and Figure 10).

11. As per claims 5 and 10, “the tool of claims 4 and 9, wherein said third display includes an identification of each protocol that can be associated with the new conduit, and graphical objects via which a user can select each of said protocols” is taught in ‘558 (Col 9 line 35 to Col 10 line 24, and Figures 10-24)
